

OPINIONS

Knowledge is useful to the extent it is accessible. Digitizing the library enhances the access. I appreciate the efforts taken in this direction. I hope this new access creates more interest among the seekers of knowledge. I hope that at some future time, this access will be extended to those outside the CIIL also, may be for a fee.

E. Annamalai
Former Director, CIIL

An excellent management of information in digital form. Very impressive organization of materials, books, journals etc. I have not seen such an organizational achievements of database and management of information elsewhere in libraries. My library people will further like to interact with team and I/C library.

The CIIL library is an example of exemplary facilities that every library should possess. It is a place that scholars from across the country should find extremely useful for their research. It is a great pleasure to have had the opportunity of seeing the library at such close quarters.

Visited the library. A wonderful collection is available here along with multimedia facilities and digitized catalogue and text. This can act as a model for many other libraries. Let the library act as the focal point for institute.

S.C. Khuntia
Joint secretary, MHRD

The library is one of the best in the country on Indian Languages. The institutes deserve all the praise for building such a facility. We need to create enabling condition for its use by other students. My best wishes.

Ashok Thakur
Secretary, MHRD

ABOUT LIBRARY

The CIIL Library was established in April 1970. It is a multimedia library possessing specialized collection in Indian Languages, Linguistics and allied areas like Anthropology, Education, Folklore, Literature, Philosophy, Religion, Literature, and Tribal Languages etc.. Also, it is a network library covering the libraries of the Regional Language Centers (RLCs) at Bhubaneswar, Guwahati, Lucknow, Mysore, Patiala, Pune and Solon with it. The main objective of the library is to act as the national information centre on linguistics and Indian languages.. The library was fully computerized during the tenth five year plan period under the Bhasha Bharathi Project. The Institute's library is the second in the country to have a fully digital library at the metadata level. Here is a computerized system that allows users to obtain coherent means of access to an organized, electronically stored repository of information at their work place itself. The digital library was formally inaugurated on May 5, 2005 by Sri B. S. Baswan, the then Education Secretary.

The Ministry of Human Resource Development has placed this library in Category IV, since Oct 31, 2006.

Library Automation

VIRTUA Integrated Library Management system developed by M/S Visionary Technology in Library Solution (VTLS) Inc., Virginia, has been selected for library automation.

SECTIONS OF THE LIBRARY

Reference Section

It has encyclopedias, indexes, dictionaries, bibliographies, etc., in many Indian languages including tribal and foreign languages and in different disciplines including children's reference section. Prof. Ashok R. Kelkar and Late Prof. Probohd Narayan Singh have donated their collection of books.

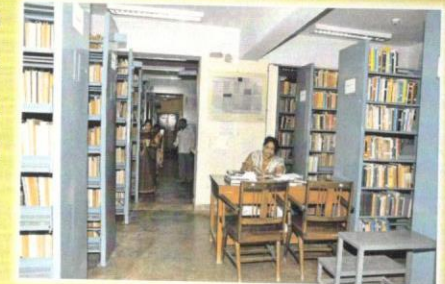

Reference Section

Stack Section

The books on linguistics and its allied areas in this section are separated from Generalities to History section. More than 30,000 books are on different aspects of language and linguistics including tribal and foreign languages.

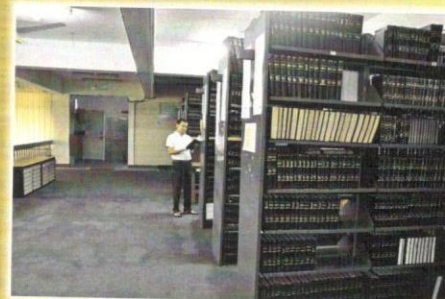

The books in Indian languages form a separate section. More than 12% of the collection is in Hindi followed by Bengali (7%) Tamil, Odia, Marathi, Kannada and other Languages.

Stack Section

Journal Section

The Institute subscribes to 83 international journals, 36 Indian journals/magazines and dailies, with 8000 back volumes of journals. Most of the professional journals on linguistics are in complete set. Current journals and the back issues are kept separately in the journal section with reading facility.

Journal Section

Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC) in the VTLS package has been done for all the journals. Comprehensive information about the journals is made available along with content list, abstracts, and full text for some issues of the journals.

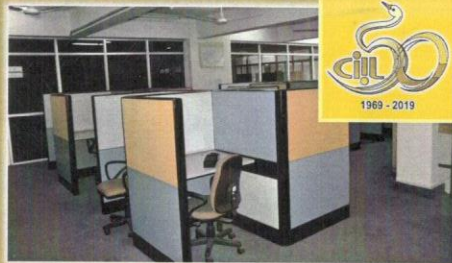

E-Journals

The back issues of some of the journals are now digitally available from its first volume. Important journals in CDs have been purchased. For example, Language journal of the acoustical society of American.

Browsing Section

Users have access to daily newspapers and light reading magazine/news letters in different Indian Languages.

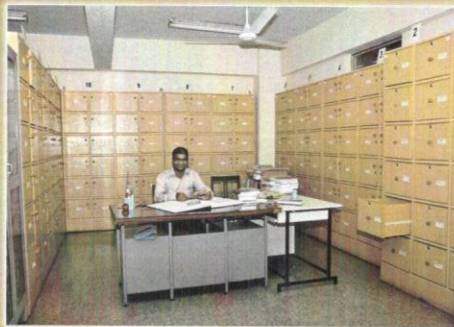

Browsing Section

Maps, Charts and Photographs

The library has restricted (1345) and unrestricted maps (1296), physical, geographical, language and political maps, world maps (30), atlases and globe, etc. These have been laminated and stored in maps cabinet. The charts and photographs represent the origin and developments of scripts, early printing and advertising. A web site and an exhaustive bibliography have been prepared.

Multimedia Section

All the audio and video CDs, tapes, etc., have been classified language-wise and arranged in this section. The infrastructure includes specially designed CD cabinets and each cabinet has the index of its holdings. A multimedia web page is created where in entire metadata of multimedia materials is available in a classified order.

Multimedia Section

SPECIAL INFORMATION SOURCES

Special collection includes: 1. Language text books from standard 1st to 10th in all Indian languages. 2. College level text books published by Granth academies on various subjects in major Indian languages. 3. Children's literature in major Indian languages and English. 4. Indian literature in translation. 5. Adult education and literacy primers. 6. Reprints, off prints and languages Act.

Census Publication, Gazetteer

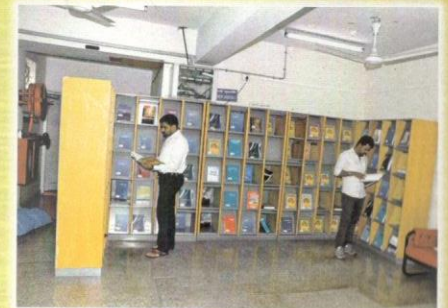

Census publication from 1872 to 1951 in microfiche form and from 1961 to till-date are available in both print and CD format. The imperial gazetteer from 1895 to 1962 is available in both print and microfiche form. The state assembly debates on language policies Karnataka, Maharashtra and Gujarat are available on microfiche.

DIGITIZATION OF THE LIBRARY RESOURCE

Books

The digitization of documents started from the institute's publications. We can have a link file for the full text of the document in its library iportal. Following are some of the sites of CIIL depicting the digitized documents in English and Indian Languages:

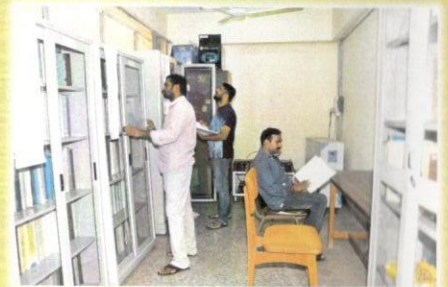

<http://www.ciilgrammars.org> and <http://www.ciil-ebooks.net>. Some of the worn out and out of print documents are digitized with author's permission. Example: A basic course in Telugu by Krishnamurti. More than 300 digitized books have the link in the OPAC.

New Arrivals

Theses and Dissertations

The library has acquired 1286 theses and dissertations. Out of these, 424 are in book format (kept in reference section and are getting digitized), 356 in digitized format and 331 in microfilm format for which digitization has been completed.

Theses and dissertations

Newspaper Clippings

Initiated from 1982 onwards, the library has collected and preserved clipping from all the national newspapers subscribed, in the areas of linguistics, Indian languages, language use in education, administration and mass media, language minorities, political issues and folklore etc. Approximately 30,000 clippings have been classified and maintained in different files. Meta data for clippings before 2000 is available in the VTLS with full text link and are made available in the newspaper clippings website.

Non-Book Materials

Entire non-book collection has the OPAC like gramophone records, audio cassette tapes, film strips, slides, spools, etc. They have been digitized and made available.

Institution Repository

The intranet web page <http://192.168.6.250/repository/index.html>. Consists of full text research articles produced by the faculty of CIIL and its RLCs.

SERVICES

The services include from a conventional to digital information services. Reference/referral services, inter-library loan, Xerox, current awareness services, browsing, library orientation and access to online database for periodicals, etc., are some additional services.

Circulation Section

Online Public Access catalogue (OPAC)

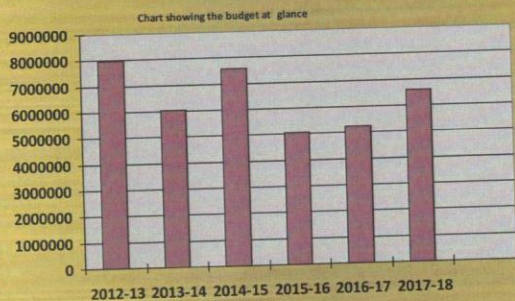

The OPAC is the gateway for searching the library bibliographic database. A search facility through web is available in its VTLS i Portal. It enables the user access worldwide for easy information retrieval. There are four types of searches such as Browse search, Keyword search, Heading keyword search and Expert search (for the library staff). Users can limit their searches to a particular type of document. The searched items can be saved in the cart for future reference. The location links shall take directly to the particular library/centers. Lexical interface to English, Hindi and Marathi is provided for dictionary help. Information retrieval thesaurus in Tamil will be included here. Patron can know the transaction details by entering the patron ID and password.

Conferencing Facilities

A conference room with the capacity of 20 persons is made available with facilities, such as, computer with internet facility, LCD projector etc.

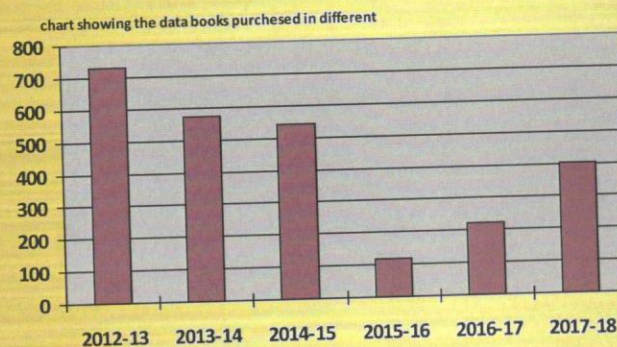

BUDGET AT A GLANCE

The Annual expenditure of the library is Rs. 64, 00,000.00/- for books and periodicals. The graph depicts year-wise expenditure from 2012-2018.

GROWTH AT A GLANCE
